

Rocky Peak Park

Rocky Peak Road, Simi Valley, California 93063

Encompassing 4,800 acres in the Santa Susana Mountains between Chatsworth and Simi Valley, this extraordinary Rim of the Valley Trail Corridor property includes the 4,400-acre Runkle Ranch formerly owned by entertainer Bob Hope. Rocky Peak Park stretches from the 118 freeway five miles northward to Las Lajas Canyon, and forms the most critical wildlife habitat linkage between the Simi Hills and the Santa Susana Mountains. Spectacular sandstone boulders, outcroppings, oak savannahs, and perennial water sources provide diverse habitat for birds, mammals, and reptiles.

Directions: From the San Fernando Valley, head west on the 118 Fwy and exit at Rocky Peak Road. Park on the north side of the off-ramp. From Simi Valley, head east on the 118 and exit at Kuehner Drive. Go right (south) on Kuehner until it becomes Santa Susana pass Road. Follow it east to the top of the pass and the parking area.

Park Features

- Hiking
- Equestrian
- Biking
- Dogs on Leash
- Park Boundary
- Trail/Fire Rd
- Parking Lot
- City Views
- Filming Location
- Parklands
- Minor Road
- Major Road