

Westridge Canyonback Wilderness Park

Dirt Mulholland 0.5 miles west of Encino Hills Drive

Deep in the eastern Santa Monica Mountains in the City of Los Angeles, Westridge Canyonback Park provides more than 1,400 acres of open space bordered by upper Mandeville Canyon, Sullivan Canyon, Mission Canyon, and San Vicente Mountain Park. The Westridge fire road provides trail access for hikers, mountain bikers and equestrians along the north-south ridgeline. The park is contiguous with the 20,000-acre urban wilderness park known as the "Big Wild."

Dogs are permitted off-leash under their owner's immediate control so long as the owner or person in possession of the dog (1) exercises that degree of control that enables such person to recall the dog on command, and (2) has a leash on his person at all times so as to be able to restrain the dog if necessary.

Directions: From the San Fernando Valley, the park is accessible from San Vicente Mountain Park. From the 405 freeway, take Mulholland Drive west 2.7 miles. A ten minute walk on a fire road will bring you to the trail and Park entrance.

From West Los Angeles: From Sunset Blvd. take Mandeville Canyon Road north to Westridge Road. Turn left. Take Westridge Road to its terminus.

Park Features

- | | | | |
|--|--------------------|--|-----------------|
| | Hiking | | City Views |
| | Biking | | Park Boundary |
| | Equestrian | | Other Parklands |
| | Dogs Under Control | | Trail |
| | Parking | | Minor Road |
| | Restroom | | Major Road |